New HTML5 Version Of Saxophone Today Premieres With JanFeb 2017 Sonny Rollins Issue

Saxophone Today magazine has switched to HTML 5 technology beginning with the JanFeb 2017 Sonny Rollins issue, which means the “Flash Add-On” in your browser will no longer be needed to open and read Saxophone Today.

All back issues of Saxophone Today magazines, will be switched over to HTML 5 in 2017. Until each magazine is switched to the newer HTML 5 format the original “Flash” version will work the same as before.

You’ll be pleased to know that you need to do nothing. Your subscription magazines, and back issues will remain completely accessible by you automatically in the new HTML 5 format.

HTML 5 is supported by all browsers and all computer operating systems. Saxophone Today will function 100% on Windows and Apple desktop computers, laptops, tablets, iPads, as well as iPhones and Android phones.

Over time, in this transition process, if a given ST magazine doesn’t open on your computer just click the browser Refresh button (F5 key) in Internet Explorer or the Reload Current Page button in Firefox, etc., and you’ll be golden.

The PDF downloaded files from the HTML 5 version will not change. If you downloaded the PDFs to your computer from the older Flash version of ST magazine you need to nothing. The Flash PDF and HTML 5 PDF are identical.
